7. Why is it important to get a flu shot?

The flu can be deadly. An estimated 50,000 people die from the flu every year in the U.S. (<https://www.cdc.gov/flu/index.htm>), while many more individuals are very ill for a long time with the flu. Children, older adults, and individuals with chronic illness are more likely to become seriously ill from the flu.

The single best way to prevent the flu is by getting the flu vaccine. Just like wearing a seatbelt in the car prevents many injuries, the flu vaccine prevents many people from getting the flu.

Everyone 6 months of age and older is recommended to get the flu vaccine annually. Getting a flu vaccine also protects those around you, especially those at high risk of getting the flu – such as children younger than 2 years old, adults ages 65 and over, pregnant women, people with certain long-term medical conditions, and residents of nursing homes and other long-term care facilities.

The flu vaccine cannot cause the flu. Most people feel fine after the vaccine, while a few individuals may experience a mild reaction – but nothing like the serious symptoms involved in getting the flu.

Call your doctor about getting a flu vaccine right away. The sooner the better!
